

In short, CBL has expanded its activities to not only develop and commercialize other unique system applications, but also providing the service network for commercial practices training.

The increasing value-add activities are now administered by 4 main subsidiaries:

